ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The consultants wish to express their sincere appreciation for the support and assistance they have received from the Parliamentary Service Commission, Members of the National Assembly, staff of the Parliamentary Service, the donors and other key partners working with the National Assembly. Their guidance, advice, comments and recommendations have greatly enriched this report, and we hope that it will prove to be a useful document for the National Assembly's reference.

We are particularly grateful to the Steering Committee of the project, who spent many hours discussing our outputs and giving us invaluable suggestions on the necessary improvements. To each and every one of them we want to extend our sincere appreciation. We would like to specially recognise the management of the National Assembly, not only for their specialised insights into the various components of the project, but also for their kind and efficient facilitation of our day to day activities within the National Assembly.

Lastly, we want to thank the Democratic Governance Support Programme (DGSP) of the European Union and the Department for International Development (DFID) within the British High Commission for having kindly funded the consultancy.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This Needs Assessment Report is a response to the Kenya National Assembly's (KNA) request to develop information delivery and legal services to enhance the effectiveness of the KNA as an institution of governance.

This request was made against the realisation that for the KNA to fulfill its constitutional mandate of making laws for the nation, ensuring Executive accountability and representation of the people of Kenya, there is need to create structures that provide information and legal services.

The significance of information in the KNA is highlighted in the Parliamentary Service Commission (PSC) Strategic Plan, which states:

"Information in its various forms, types and kinds, is the main stay of any organisation, including a Legislature. Parliamentarians need information to enable them to fulfil the functions of Parliament: namely: - legislation, financial, appropriation and control, oversight and supervision of governance, et cetera. The information and communication processes needed by a Member to accomplish his/her role and responsibilities is enormous and could not be realised by an individual Member." (Appendix six, section H 1.2)

The consultants conducted this Needs Assessment to determine the stakeholder and user priorities and requirements of Legal, Research and Library Services. The findings of this report will input into the design of a project document which will:-

1. Establish a Legal Services Department;
2. Establish a Research Department;
3. Enhance the effectiveness of the Library; and
4. Propose efficient utilisation and allocation of existing space to accommodate the Legal, Research and Library Services.

The following activities informed the Needs Assessment:

1. Document Review of the Strategic Plan of the PSC, the Consultants' Report to the PSC on the Strategic Plan of Parliament (the Three Nation Report), the DGSP Programme Document and several other documents.¹
2. Electronic searches to document international best practices of the region and other Commonwealth Parliaments.
3. Consultations and in-depth interviews² with PSC members, Deputy Speaker, other MPs, key officials of the Parliamentary Service, DGSP, DFID, SUNY Kenya, CIDA and Italian Embassy.

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

4. Brainstorming sessions with the Steering Committee appointed by the PSC to oversee the implementation of the project.
5. Site Surveys - The architects carried out several site surveys on various potential locations to house the Legal, Research and Library Services.
6. Meetings to discuss and internalise the Needs Assessment Report with members of the PSC, Library Committee and Liaison Committee of Parliament.

Findings and Recommendations

The main findings of the Needs Assessment are:

1. There is no Legal Services Department;
2. There is no Research Services Department;
3. There is an under-resourced and under-equipped Library; and
4. There is limited space for the Legal, Research and Library Departments.

The Consultants recommend the following for the different components of the project:

A. Legal Services

We recommend:

1. That the core business of the Legal Services Department should be determined to provide clarity on its role and functions;
2. That the nature of the department's future relationship with the A-G's Office needs to be determined to ensure an ongoing cordial relationship with that office;
3. That the beneficiaries of legal services should be the PSC, the Speaker, Committees, Members of Parliament and the Clerk of Parliament;
4. That the Legal Services Department provides the following services:
 - Legal and procedural advice to the PSC, the Speaker, the Committees, the Members of Parliament and the Clerk of Parliament
 - Drafting Services to the PSC, Committees and Members of Parliament
 - Tracking of Bills
 - Bill analysis for use by Committees and Members, in close consultation with researchers
 - Drafting of contracts to be entered into between the PSC and contracting parties
 - Facilitating litigation on behalf of the PSC
 - Liaison with the drafters in the office of the Attorney-General on matters relating to Bills introduced by the Executive and individual Members

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

- Advice to relevant Committees and the House on the status of delegated legislation and other statutory instruments;
- 5. That ongoing monitoring of the department and a review of services should take place at the end of year one to determine whether the number of staff is still meeting the needs of the beneficiaries;
- 6. That, for the first year of the department's existence, at least, the Legal Counsel should report to the Deputy Clerk responsible for Legislative and Procedural Services;
- 7. That a comprehensive Human Resources Development Strategy be developed for the Parliamentary Service, which would include performance management;
- 8. That the two Legal Counsel are exposed to the functioning of Legal Services Departments of other Commonwealth Parliaments within the region and outside through study visits; and
- 9. That appropriate options be considered for an office location for the Legal Services Department.

B. Research Services

We recommend:

1. That the core business of the department be the provision of oral and written research and analysis in a confidential and non-partisan manner to Parliament;
2. That the main functions of the department include:
 - Undertaking research for Parliament;
 - Research support for Parliamentary committees;
 - Research support for PR activities;
 - Research support for parliamentary delegations;
 - Review of policies and Bills;
 - Provision of pro-active research;
3. That the initial focus of the department be towards the topical issues currently being debated in Parliament;
4. That the client base of the department includes the Presiding Officers, MPs, and committees;
5. That focus needs to be on production of high quality simple research;

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

6. That as limited a hierarchical chain as possible be put in place;
7. That the staffing, including job descriptions, salary scales and management arrangements as recommended by the PSC be adopted;
8. That recruitment of research staff and the head of the department are finalised;
10. That performance indicators be developed to evaluate the performance of staff;
11. That training of the research staff commences as soon as appointments are made;
12. That subject to availability of funds all, research and committee staff spend at least one week observing the operations of other Legislatures where research services are provided to committees;
13. That research and library staff meet regularly to identify information sources for Parliament;
14. That a proportion of the project budget be earmarked to purchase IT hardware and software for researchers and committees;
15. That researchers get Internet access;
16. That researchers be accommodated in a manner that does not compromise the confidential nature of their work;
17. That to monitor workflow and for annual reporting purposes, the department design instruments to record requests for information by the MPs; and
18. That the Research Department operates under the guidance of the Deputy Clerk responsible for Library and Committees.

C. Library Services

We recommend:

1. That the current library collection be properly processed and organised with old materials, which are no longer in use, being weeded out and properly archived.
2. That the current library collection be updated; new and relevant materials be acquired to meet the needs of committees, members and staff.

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

3. That the library should develop and implement clear selection, acquisition and collection development policies.
4. That the library should use internationally acceptable tools in processing information materials (AACR 2, Sears list of subject headings and classification manual – depending on the scheme identified).
5. That the old furniture be replaced with modern and suitable library furniture.
6. That sitting capacity in the two libraries be increased to create room for more users and shelf space.
7. That the library staff be trained on how to process information materials which include non-book materials and grey literature by using new information technologies and use of indexing tools which are proficient in managing specialised libraries.
8. That the two libraries be computerised and networked to facilitate quick retrieval of information and have them linked with other parliamentary libraries in the region and in the world to promote information sharing and exchange.
9. That a website for the Kenya National Assembly Library be established and should be regularly updated and maintained.
10. That a library user education programme be developed and conducted to members of Parliament and staff regularly.
11. That the current library should be used as a the main reference library once the library at Continental house is set up.
12. That a scheme of service for Library Assistants and Librarians be developed and implemented by Parliamentary Service Commission in line with that developed by the Office of the President, Directorate of Personnel Management to attract qualified and competent personnel.
13. That more staff establishments be created and staff be recruited to assist in managing the two libraries.
14. That staff be allowed to participate in staff-exchange programmes, workshops, seminars and conferences in order to share experiences and keep themselves abreast with modern trends
15. That the Library Committee should meet regularly to evaluate library services and approve materials to be acquired.

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

16. That clear rules and regulations for borrowing need to be drawn and implemented with the help of the Library Committee.

D. Architectural Design Brief

We recommend:

1. That the character of the existing library is retained due to its architectural merit and minimal alterations are made to provide additional space;
2. That the 1st floor space at Continental House set aside for the library be converted into the Loans, Reference, IT and Audio Visual Library. This exercise will require minimal intervention based on the fact the space was recently refurbished;
3. That KNA procures one floor at Harambee Plaza to house the Legal and Research Services Departments; and
4. That the basement at County Hall be refurbished minimally to allow for efficient use as archives. We additionally recommend the procurement of purpose made archive shelving units to ensure that the storage is carried out effectively.

E. Project Implementation

We recommend:

1. That the Steering Committee appointed by the PSC oversees the implementation of the project;
2. That a Technical Team be appointed to supervise individual components of the project;
3. That a Project Manager be appointed with overall responsibility for the implementation of the project;
4. That a Works Implementation Manager be appointed to supervise the construction works during the project's implementation;
5. That the Deputy Chief Finance Officer undertakes the financial management of the project;
6. That all implementing agents be trained on project management and procurement procedures;

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

7. That the Finance Department be equipped with the appropriate IT hardware and software to facilitate financial reporting;
8. That the procurement and financial management procedures comply with those of GoK and donors;
9. That regular progress reports be submitted to the PSC and donors on a monthly basis;
10. That quarterly financial audits of the project be undertaken; and
11. That a mid-term and an annual evaluation of the project be conducted.

F. Long-term Recommendations

We would like to make the following long-term recommendations;

1. That the respective Directorates for the Library, Research and Legal Services proposed in the PSC Strategic Plan be established for greater efficiency of delivery of services;
2. That the plot currently used for parking and earmarked for the development of the Sir Humphrey Slade Memorial Library be actively considered for the development of the main Parliamentary Information Centre providing one stop information resources in terms of Library, Legal, Research and Archival services; and
3. That adequate parking is provided through the use of basement spaces to allow for efficient use of the proposed Parliamentary Information Centre.

INTRODUCTION

The work of the national legislatures is to a great extent, information intensive (Bills, white papers, submissions). While Government departments have various experts to advise them on different issues, Parliaments do not. Yet Parliaments are expected to ensure Executive accountability. This report therefore aims at developing parliamentary information resources capable of providing objective, non-partisan information services to Members of Parliament (MPs) and committees in an easily accessible and understandable format.

As spelt out in the PSC Strategic Plan, there is no doubt that information is one of the most important tools in enhancing the effectiveness of the KNA. The KNA needs, more so than other political institutions, trained and specialised staff in the organisation and analysis of information to be presented to MPs to enable them to perform their varied parliamentary roles.

This is because. MPs are expected to analyse Bills that come to Parliament, analyse and make recommendations on different policy issues, debate motions in the House and present papers in local, regional and international conferences, seminars and workshops. The legislative process itself is very complex. Thus MPs need objective, factual and timely information in order to ensure executive accountability to the Legislature. That being the case, it is imperative that the KNA should its own information reservoir.

What is more, the government has a de facto quasi monopoly as far as producing documents is concerned. A parliamentary institution on the other hand does not have the same capacity as the Executive. Accordingly, if Parliament wishes to be an effective institution of governance, it is important that the quality of its services be improved. The strengthening of the KNA can only be achieved if there are highly effective structures for information provision and analysis.

Parliamentary information resources are a crucial element in the process of enhancing the effectiveness of legislative processes for various reasons;

- Legislatures tend to be generalists rather than specialists. Except for those with considerable seniority, most legislators will have a detailed knowledge of very few public policy issues. Because they must make decisions on many complex matters, about which they may know little, legislators need products that explain to them the basics of a situation, but also deal with issues at highly sophisticated level.
- Legislators are used to dealing in concepts and absolutes, and often hold very firm ideas about the way the world works. Because they operate within their own well-defined worldview, legislators learn best from papers with well-organised concepts. They need to know how a situation fits into what they already think.

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

- Legislators are always short on time due to their many commitments and responsibilities. In addition, many prefer to learn from talking to people rather than reading and may have a short attention span for the written word. Because they are short on time, legislators will prefer short papers to read in one sitting. To hold a legislators attention and to help the legislator resume reading a paper after an interruption, all products must be easy to follow.
- Legislators are action-oriented; i.e. they see themselves as instruments of change. Because they are action-oriented, legislators want to know what they can do about a situation. They will want options spelled out, and the consequences of those options evaluated.
- Opponents constantly challenge legislators. Because they defend their positions, legislators need information that will confirm or challenge their values, assumptions, worldview, and understanding of the facts. They need to know their opponents' views. They want to know what interests are at stake—how a situation and suggested options will affect their constituents in the and long run. They need information that they can absolutely rely upon: there's a price to pay for being wrong or misinformed.

Thus from the foregoing, it is clear that there is need to establish effective research legal and library services for KNA. The process of development of a research department is linked to one major issue: "How to make parliament a strong institution of governance".

PART ONE: DETAILED FINDINGS OF NEEDS ASSESSMENT FOR LEGAL SERVICES

1.1 Scope of Legal Services

1.1.1 Current Status

Domain	Current Status
Understanding of what provision of legal services entails	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There is a clear understanding of why the Parliament of Kenya needs a Legal Services Department. • There is a fair understanding of what types of services the Department could provide to the beneficiaries of its services. • The Members and staff are fairly clear about how they will use the services of the Legal Services Department.

These services include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Litigation on behalf of the Speaker and the Clerk - Drafting of contracts - Conveyancing services
Beneficiaries of Legal Services	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • All the interviewees agreed that the following should be the beneficiaries of legal services in the National Assembly of Kenya: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The PSC - Speaker - Committees - Members of Parliament - Clerk of Parliament
Type of Legal Services to be provided	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • All the interviewees agreed that the Legal Services Department should generally provide the following types of services: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Drafting services - bills, amendments, rules, motions, resolutions, etc. - Legal advisory services, including litigation

1.1.2 Analysis

There is a clear understanding of why the National Assembly needs a Legal Services Department and a high level of understanding of what is required of such a department.

Currently the National Assembly sources legal services from the Attorney-General's Office and private legal firms whenever these are required.

In its Strategic Plan, the PSC stated that the nature of the relationship with the A-G's office needed to change, since the relationship compromised the principle of separation of powers which were necessary for effective oversight of the National Assembly over the Executive. The PSC has also recognised the need for its own office to provide it with legal advice and representation in litigation. Those interviewed during the current project reiterated these views.

It is acknowledged that the A-G's office cannot cater to the needs of the National Assembly, since it is their mandate to give priority to bills from the Executive. They would not regard Private Members' Bills as a priority and so would usually not be expected to render assistance in this regard. The relationship between the National Assembly and the A-G's office has been described as cordial and the interviewees were anxious that this situation would prevail in future. At times, there would be a need for close liaison between the parliamentary legal drafters and the drafters in the A-G's office. An example of this would be on the legal status of amendments to bills to ensure that these are not in conflict with any existing legislation.

The potential beneficiaries of legal services have a fair understanding of what types of services the Legal Services Department could provide to them. A few of the interviewees cautioned against being too ambitious with the establishment of this Department.

Senior staff would be recruited and it had to be ensured that there was enough work to keep the staff busy. This is especially applicable to the drafting services, since more than 95% of bills are introduced by the Executive and drafted by the A-G's office. The latter has a full department for drafting of legislation.

It would also be important to crosscheck whether similar amendments had not been passed previously, since there does not appear to be consistency in tracking which bills or amendments to bills had previously been passed. It has happened that similar amendments have been passed and some Acts have been declared null and void. This is very embarrassing to the National Assembly.

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

Location of the Legal Services Department	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The majority of the interviewees felt that the Legal Services Department should not be a part of the Research Department. • Most interviewees felt that the Legal Services Department would fit better in the proposed Legislative and Procedural Services Directorate. • The Steering Committee felt that the Legal Services Department would fit better in either the proposed Directorate of Corporate Services or the Directorate of Committees, Research and Library.
Recruitment of staff	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The following recruitment process takes place: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Job descriptions finalised by the Personnel Department - These are approved by a subcommittee of the PSC - An advertisement is drafted and placed in newspapers - An Interview Panel is appointed - Shortlisting of the candidates takes place - Interviews are held with the candidates who have been short listed - The Interview Panel forwards its recommendations to the PSC - The PSC to approve the appointment of the recommended candidate. - The candidate undergoes a medical examination. - The candidate receives a formal letter of appointment. • Ideally the recruitment process should take about 2 months. A number of staff interviewed during this project expressed concern at the delays experienced in the recruitment process.

1.2.2 Analysis

The overwhelming majority of the interviewees felt that the Legal Services Department should be a separate department within the proposed Legislative and Procedural Services Directorate⁴, because of the relationship between the nature of services offered. An alternative view was that legal services should be located either within the Directorate of Corporate Services or the Directorate of Committees, Hansard and Library.

Another view was that the Legal Services Department should originally form part of the Legislative and Procedural Services Department and become a separate Department within 3-4 years, after this department has had an opportunity to function for a while. Another view was that the Legal Services Department should be a part of the Research Department.⁵

Currently there is no space allocated for the Legal Services Department. Members and staff are housed in 3 separate buildings and space in a 4th building has been acquired.

⁴ In the National Council of Provinces of South Africa legal and procedural services are regarded as being closely connected. The majority of the staff in the Procedural Services Section (Table staff) are lawyers who also provide legal advice. They often work in consultation with the Parliamentary Law Advice Office.

⁵ As advised in the Consultants' Report to the PSC on the Strategic Plan of Parliament p. 63

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

This is not ideal, but is the best solution under the circumstances. Ideally the Legal Services staff should be close to the beneficiaries of their services, but in the case of the Kenya National Assembly a compromise will have to be reached. Some of the interviewees expressed concern at the length of time for some appointments to be finalised.

The following reasons were cited as possible contributing factors to the lengthy recruitment process:

- The PSC approves all appointments from Grades 1 – 9. This may take some time if they do not meet as regularly as expected
- Lack of space to locate new staff
- Lack of a dedicated Human Resources Department

There are two schools of thought regarding the reporting arrangements for the staff in the Legal Services Department, namely:

- that the Legal Counsel should report directly to the Clerk
- that the Legal Counsel should report to the applicable Deputy Clerk.

This matter needs to be considered in the light of the nature of services which this department will be offering and who the beneficiaries of these services are. If the department is expected to provide services to the Speaker, the PSC, Committees, Members and the Clerk, it is probably best for the Legal Counsel to report directly to the Clerk.

The beneficiaries need to have direct access to this department and should not be expected to follow the usual chain of reporting. Unless the South African example is followed where the Chief Parliamentary Law Adviser reports to the Deputy Clerk, but all beneficiaries have direct access to the Law Advisers' Office and to the incumbents.

Since this department is new to the National Assembly, it may not have a large pool of experienced drafters and lawyers to draw from.

Even though the incumbents may be fairly senior, they will have to be willing to be trained in the way in which parliamentary legal services are offered and the way in which the parliamentary environment operates generally. The incumbents are expected to provide legal services in a non-partisan manner.

One of the interviewees suggested the appointment of a part-time legal consultant to the National Assembly, who would be contracted whenever the need arose.

Advantages of this are:

- Use of the service only when necessary.
- Optimal use of human resources.

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

Disadvantages are:

- Unavailability of an appropriate person when needed to provide the required service at the time when it is needed
- Lack of consistency in the provision of legal services to the National Assembly
- An institutional memory is not being built.
- Members could receive different advise on the same issue – the question then arises as to what the National Assembly’s position will be.

1.2.3 Best Practice

Domain	Best Practice
Vision and Mission	The following countries expressed their Purpose statements as follows: South Africa Purpose: To provide a legal advisory and drafting service to Parliament and all components of the Parliamentary Service Zambia The Legal Department provides legal services to both National Assembly management and Members of Parliament of the backbench. The Legal Counsel, assisted by the Deputy Legal Counsel, heads it. Uganda The Department of Legislative Counsel is charged with providing efficient and timely legal services to Parliament, its committees and the Parliamentary Commission.
Organisational Structure	South Africa – When this office was first established, it employed 1 Law Adviser. After 2 years, an Assistant Law Adviser was appointed. Currently they employ 6 Law Advisers to cater to the increased needs. Zimbabwe – Employs 1 Legal Counsel and 1 administrative clerk trained in the management of a basic legal office.
Location of the Legal Services Department	South Africa - the Law Advice Office is an independent department on its own, headed by the Chief Parliamentary Law Adviser. It is situated in the Clerk’s Office. Uganda – the Department of Legislative Counsel is a Department on its own, consisting of two sections, namely, the Speaker’s Counsel Section and the Committees’ Counsel Section. Zambia – the Legal Department is a department on its own which forms part of the National Assembly Administration. Zimbabwe – The Legal Counsel Office is an independent department.

Human Resources Strategy, e.g. staffing and training	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Currently there are no staff of the National Assembly that provide legal advice to the institution. All staff members in the Legislative and Procedural Services Department assist with the drafting of amendments, motions, etc. External legal advisers and the services of the A-G's office are used where applicable. • Most of the interviewees felt that the Legal Counsel should be at the level of Deputy Clerk and report directly to the Clerk. • The Strategic Plan and the consultants' report are silent on the issue of performance management. Currently the Parliamentary Services undertakes performance appraisal as determined for the public service – this has been described as inapplicable to the Parliamentary Services. • There is no formal induction plan to train the Legal Counsel in the workings of the parliamentary environment and its unique needs once they have been appointed. Some interviewees suggested that the incumbents might be sent to other parliaments for training.
Qualifications of staff	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Currently these have not been determined.
Infrastructure (equipment and offices)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ No equipment and furniture, for example, computers and desks, are currently available for Legal Services staff ▪ There is sufficient funding available from the donors to procure the equipment required to set up the Legal Services Department ▪ The institution may be able to fund the equipment for the Legal Services Office if the donor funding is not sufficient ▪ There is a serious lack of space in Parliament. A number of suggestions were made regarding the physical location of the Legal Services staff.
Information	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Currently the library has the following legal information available: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Statutes of Kenya - Halsbury Statutes - Kenyan Law Reports - Selected publications of the Law Quarterly Review - A few old law books ▪ The Library has a working relationship with the A-G's library and this will continue even after the improvement of the Parliamentary Library.

1.3.2 Analysis

The funding for this project is sufficient for implementation over the next 12 months. The amount allocated by the donors should be sufficient to cover the following for the next 12 months:

- The upgrading of the Library
- The establishment of the Research Centre
- The establishment of the Legal Services Department

The PSC is expected to cover the operational costs for the Research Centre and the Legal Services Department from the next financial year. The Deputy Chief Financial Officer confirmed that this has been budgeted for.

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

Most of the interviewees stated that the Legal Services Department should be established with a minimum number of staff members. This would prevent a situation where staff will not have sufficient work to keep them busy. The workload should be monitored throughout the phase of this project to determine whether the staff is sufficient to cater to the needs of the beneficiaries. It is important that there is clarity from the onset as to the types of services which this department will offer, since this may also impact on how busy this department could become.

There does not appear to be a comprehensive training or induction plan for the staff in this office. It was suggested during the interview process that the staff could be attached to a person in the Parliamentary Service for about two months in order to familiarise themselves with the operations of the Parliamentary Service.

There are a number of Legal Drafting Courses available outside of Kenya, for staff to be trained if they do not already have these skills.

Currently the library does not have up-to-date legal resource material to cater to the information needs of the Legal Services Department. The department should have access to its own set of Statutes of Kenya, which would be kept in the offices of the Legal Services Department. The Library has a working relationship with the A-G's library and this should continue even after the improvement of the Parliamentary Library.

Once the Department is operating, the Head of Legal Services (the Legal Counsel) should liaise with the Head of the Library as to the types of materials which the Legal Services would need.

PART TWO: DETAILED FINDINGS OF NEEDS ASSESSMENT FOR RESEARCH SERVICES

2.1 Scope of Research Services

2.1.1 Current Status

Domain	Current Status
Understanding of what parliamentary research services entail	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There is a mixed understanding of parliamentary research services vis a vis services provided by the Library. This is reflected in the strategic plan (2000 - 2012), the three nation consultants' report, and in consultations with Members of Parliament (MPs) and staff. Some feel that library services are research services. This is understandable given the numerous models of Parliamentary research models, which are housed by Libraries. • The MPs clearly understand the role for a Parliamentary Research service in strengthening the Kenya National Assembly (KNA) as an institution of governance. They pointed out the potential of research to restore the proper balance between the executive and the legislature. They also acknowledge the role of research in enhancing the principle of separation of powers. They argued that the independence and integrity of Parliament would be greatly enhanced if research services were established for the KNA. • Most of the MPs and committees acknowledge the role of research in enhancing the three core functions of Parliament: law making, oversight and representation. The MPs report that the oversight function of Parliament has not been strong. It is reported that the KNA is in the process of establishing a Budget office to enhance the oversight role of the KNA. • Most of the respondents acknowledged the need for an integrated information delivery system, which is driven by Information Technology (IT).
Current research services	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There is no research department. Clerks and library staff provide some basic research services on an ad hoc basis upon request by MPs. Library and committee clerks assist Members to locate information, but this is not done in a systematic manner. At some point in time, each committee had at least two clerks. One of the clerks was expected to provide the research service. This service is no longer provided. One committee clerk now only services the committees. • Currently committees have minimal research services. There is currently no systematic provision of research services to committees. Consultations with Members revealed that some MPs have personal research assistants. Others depend on friends and relatives to assist with research.
Reactive vs. Proactive processes	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There is no proactive provision of information to MPs. Research needs for MPs and committees are not anticipated in advance.
Research Resources	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The following sources of materials are currently being used to carry out research: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Government reports - Bound volumes of Hansard - Old publications - Newspapers - Documents donated by the United Nations

Domain	Current Status
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Committee reports - Monographs Publications of Parliamentary associations (CPA, IPU)
Current Client base	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Currently, the main clients of the minimal research services being offered are MPs " keen on pushing specific issues through KNA".
Interdepartmental Relations Research and Library Research and Committees Research and IT	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • At present the Library is not service oriented providing the information required to undertake research. MPs reported that in most cases they have to purchase materials from their own financial resources. • Consultations with clerks revealed that there is need to spell out the different roles for the researchers vis a vis clerks. • There is no computing infrastructure strategy to ensure effective information delivery.

2.1.2 Analysis

There is a high level of urgency to establish a research department. All the main stakeholders expressed interest in the products/services of the department. There is a lot of support from the leadership of the Institution, MPs and senior staff. The primary aim is to develop a research department that offers research services that cut across the spectrum of Parliamentary work. From the expectations it would seem that the kind of research service envisaged should be able to cater for provision of simple tasks such as simple factual information requiring minimum analysis to in-depth analytical papers requiring high levels of processing. Both Members and committee clerks welcome the provision of research services to committees.

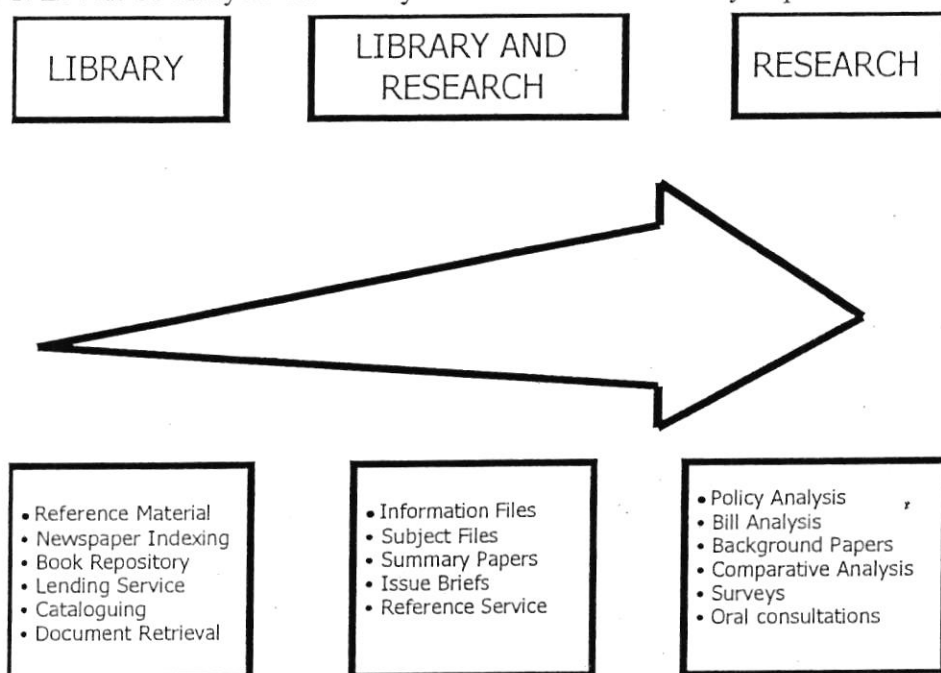

There is a proposal to create a Budget Office to be manned by personnel with knowledge in this area. In some cases there was a mixed understanding of the role and functions of the research department vis a vis the Library.

This is to be expected since the work of the two departments is highly complimentary. There is however, not a clear understanding of the level of analysis carried out by the two departments. In most established parliaments, the Library provides the research service. In the United Kingdom, Canada, and India, the research service is housed within the Library. The same is the case with Australia where the Parliamentary service has been part of the Library since 1997. In the United States of America, the research is an independent unit housed within the Library.

In many developing legislatures, e.g. Zimbabwe, South Africa, Egypt, Japan, Zambia, the research service is not housed in the Library. This is because the level of analysis provided by the two departments is different as shown in Figure 1.

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

The research information offered to MPs and committees is of a different nature than that provided by the library. It is more an aggregation of knowledge beyond that found in libraries. The library offers information from information sources such as books serials, documents, databases, and bibliography quick reference and assistance.

The current client base comprise of a few MPs. The sources of information are also limited. There is a big collection of Government documents in the Library. This is partly due to the fact that, until recently, Parliament was part of the public service. Currently, the library is operating as a traditional depository library.

The minimal research undertaken utilises a lot of government material. Meetings with MPs and staff revealed frustration with the lack of relevant updated information and a general lack of confidence in the library as it is at presently run.

If the Library is to provide support to research and committee services, then it is important to review its current holdings. The current material in the Library does not contain information of contemporary parliamentary relevance.

The monographs currently contained are not relevant to the workings of a modern Parliament.

The potential users have a fair idea of what they require from the department. Both MPs and staff welcome its introduction. The feeling is that the KNA is one of the few countries in the Commonwealth without a research department. Uganda, Zambia, Zimbabwe, South Africa, Namibia have a research department.

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

The role of committees in scrutinizing departmental policy presents a crucial requirement for research. Consultations revealed that the current legislative process requires that after the First reading of a Bill in the House it be referred to the relevant committee for scrutiny chapter by chapter. It is assumed that the different committees have the requisite knowledge and expertise to analyse the Bill in terms of its Constitutionality, and also to determine whether it does not contravene other existing pieces of legislation.

Consultations revealed that in most cases committees are unable to analyse and review these Bills. As a result committees do not make the appropriate policy options or amendments. It was reported that there are cases where amendments to a Bill have been made on the floor and not in the committees. It was reported that some Bills could not be implemented (e.g. the Roads Board Act); others caused unnecessary conflict between Government and the Legislature. There is therefore need for strong technical expertise to assist committees.

Other departments should provide some of the services the research department is expected to provide. Table research should be undertaken by clerks who sit at the Table in conjunction with the legal services department. The drafting of rulings, motions should be undertaken by the Procedural office. The Library should undertake indexing, cataloguing and some electronic searches.

The Strategic Plan recommends a model where research and library services are located in one directorate but operate independently. This model is also recommended by the consultants' report (p.68), which state that the model is the most frequently selected approach by developing legislatures throughout the world (South Africa, Egypt, Zimbabwe, Zambia, Uganda).

2.1.3 Best Practice

1. Scope and Focus of Research Services	The scope of services offered by parliamentary services varies in nature and depth. In Zimbabwe, South Africa, Australia, Zambia, Egypt the research service provides objective and non-partisan information to Members and committees. Zimbabwe: Provides research and analysis (value addition to information), oral briefs etc for MPs and committee work. South Africa: Research and Analysis for MPs and committee work. Australia: Multidisciplinary analyses and oral briefs for MPs and committee work. Canada: Multidisciplinary analyses USA: Legal research, preparation of hearings, oral briefs. UK: Highly specialised research. Zambia: Background papers, speeches, exchange of views, country briefs, sectoral reviews, anticipatory research.
Simple versus in depth studies	There is evidence that contemporary parliaments are moving from complex research characterized by too much detail and analysis, to concentrating on issues on the Order Paper. The modern approach produces simplified research and information services.

In the Canadian Parliament, the research administration is encompassed within the organisational structure of the Library. In the American Congress, the research is linked to the Library but operates independently. In India, the Library, research and IT units fall within a unified structure called LARRDIS. 2. Variety and independence: In Zimbabwe and South Africa, the research and Library are stand alone units. Although they are housed under one directorate they operate as independent units. This was done to enable them to define their scope of services and to reduce bureaucracy levels. 3.Joint coordination The third option is on coordination and joint supervision among research activities and parliamentary information services. In the American Congress, the department of research relies on the method of the work team that includes elements from research, library IT.
Client base	The current client base in most Legislatures include: Presiding officers, committees, and MPs. Different countries have a different client base as shown below: Australia – MPs UK - MPs, MPs staff, the public Zimbabwe –Presiding Officers, Clerk of Parliament, committees, MPs, Parliamentary committees South Africa-Parliament, committees, MPs Zambia- Presiding officers, committees, MPs, Parliamentary staff Canada-MPs, committees, Parliamentary Associations

The lawyers who undertake this service are trained in legal drafting. Not every lawyer can draft Bills. In many Commonwealth countries, clerks who sit at the Table In the Chamber undertake Table research. Research and Committees	Different Parliaments organize provision of research services to committees differently. In Zimbabwe each committee shadows a group of government ministries. In the UK system, committees shadow a single department and not a broad set of related ministries as in the Zimbabwean situation. In South Africa, India, Zambia, Germany, the European Parliament, the trend is to empower committees to examine government policies through provision of a mix of researchers who are generalists and specialists in specific areas such as finance, trade and environment. Different legislatures have expertise based on themes. 2.1.4 Recommendations

Domain	Recommendations
Scope and Focus of Research Services Simple versus in depth studies Non Partisan and Partisan research Conceptual model for the NAK	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There is need to clearly define the core business of both the library and research department to highlight their complementarity, synergies, role and functions. Based on best practice, the scope of services provided by the Research Department should include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Provision of analytical information in a non partisan and objective manner; - Provision of analytical information to committees - Provision of analytical information to Parliamentary delegations; - Assistance with information required by MPs in their representation role; - In depth research on technical issues e. g genetic engineering; - Individually tailored papers; - Fact sheets covering topics requested for by many MPs. • However, in the embryonic stages of the development of the department, there should be concentration on a few high quality products such as research papers on topical issues, and Bills Digests. • The Research Department initially concentrates on simple research tasks such as policy reviews and analysis (especially issues on the Order paper and should anticipate information requests). • Although the different research units offer a variety of successful models to choose from, reading one's environment and responding to its needs is very important. Since this is a new development, it is recommended that the Parliamentary research department provides non-partisan information and then depending on the need, consider the provision of partisan research services at a later stage. • The model recommended for KNA, is the variety model where both research and library are housed in one directorate, but operate as independent units. This is to enable the two departments to be creative and develop their scope of work. • Locating the new department in the old and complicated organisational hierarchy of the library might hinder the desired independence of the department and undermine the enthusiasm and creativity of its staff. • However, considering the necessary cooperation and coordination between the Library and the research service, it is important that both of them be housed under one directorate.
Client base	In the case of NAK, it is recommended that the initial client base include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Presiding officers • Clerk of the National Assembly • Committees • MPs • Public Relations Department • Parliamentary Women Group • General public
Research Products/ services provided	There are a variety of products provided by research departments. The new department should not attempt to offer the breadth of services being offered by other established research services; rather, it should concentrate on a few high quality products such as policy reviews on current topical issues. In the case of the NAK, it is recommended that the following services be offered and be reviewed from time to time: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Provision of background information to speeches for Presiding officers • Provision of background information for use by MPS in and outside Parliament in the execution of their Parliamentary duties

It is envisaged that this category is more likely to be non-partisan. The recruitment process should endeavor to get researchers with qualifications that parallel existing departmental committees as recommended by the PSC.
Joint Resourcing and training	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Whilst it is not within the terms of reference of this brief to look at the operations of the committee system, this brief noted from consultations with MPs and staff that the Resourcing and training for optimum outputs be considered jointly for research, library, committee and IT staff.

A total of 10 people have been identified after (interviews). The interviews were carried out last year. Once the PSC approves the names, appointment letters will be sent. • One of the 10 people will be appointed Head of the department and will report to the Deputy Clerk in charge of committees and Library. • The recruitment process targeted professionals specializing in areas paralleling the jurisdiction of departmental committees.
Reporting Arrangements	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The current structure requires that the Head of Research report to the director who reports to a deputy clerk.

2.2.2 Analysis

The vision and mission of the research department is not spelt out.

There are two conflicting organisational structures. Consultations with the PSC Secretariat and Deputy Clerks revealed that the Deputy Clerk responsible for committees would manage this department; yet, none of the organisational structures reflect this.

The reporting structure as envisaged by the PSC strategic plan has a lot of hierarchies. Hierarchies are resource costly and most instances tend to be counter-productive to provision of optimal service in a legislative environment. This is because of the high levels of miscommunication and time spent in the clearance chain.

Vision and Mission of the department	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The following are recommendations for a Vision and Mission of the Department which should be discussed, reviewed and internalized by the Research Department: Vision – To become a reservoir of synthesized information for the KNA. Mission - To provide information to Parliament, and Management of the National Assembly in a non-partisan, easily accessible, confidential and understandable format. There is need to workshop the vision and the mission once the researchers have been appointed so that they internalize and own the vision and mission.
Name of Directorate	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> There is need to rename the Directorate. The current name does not distinguish it from the IT directorate as envisaged in the PSC strategic Plan.
Leadership	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> There is need to clarify the issue of leadership. According to the existing organogram provided by the PSC secretariat, the Research Department will fall under the Deputy Clerk responsible for committees (yet this Deputy clerk is not responsible for legal services).
Structure and Reporting Arrangements	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The recommended organisational structure of the Directorate is as shown below:  <pre> graph TD A[PARLIAMENTARY SERVICE COMMISSION] --> B[CLERK OF THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY] B --> C[DIRECTOR: INFORMATION SERVICES] C --> D[HEAD OF RESEARCH] D --> E[ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT] D --> F[RESEARCHERS X 8] </pre>  It is also recommended that reporting hierarchies should be minimised as much as possible to remove bureaucratic bottlenecks to facilitate delivery of services. As limited a hierarchical chain as is possible is encouraged. The organisational structure will need to be reviewed after the proposed organogram of the KNA is operationalised.

1. Budget	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The following is the allocation by donors for this project: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - DFID: KSh 25m - EU: KSh 60m • Part of the money allocated by donors will be towards the setting up of the Legal Services Department over the next year • The PSC is expected to budget for the Legal Services Department from the next financial year – it is confirmed that this has been catered for. • Consultations with personnel in the PSC secretariat, Finance and Human Resource departments reveal that there is a budget set aside specifically for research salaries.
Human Resources Strategy	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Although the Strategic Plan does not indicate whether the researchers will be partisan or non-partisan, the functions spelt out (p 110 - 113) suggest that the researchers will be non-partisan. This is also the recommendation from the consultants' report (p. 56) and was confirmed by interview held with the different stakeholders.
Recruitment	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Recruitment process to identify the Head of the Research department has commenced.
Training	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Strategic Plan is silent on the issue of training needs for the research department. The consultants' report recommends that experienced personnel from legislatures, with highly developed research services, should provide training in the effective utilisation of parliamentary research services. • There are no clear indications of the training requirements required to achieve synergies and complementary between <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Research and library - Research and committees - Research and IT
Performance management	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Strategic Plan and the consultants' report are silent on the issue of performance management and career path of the research staff
Infrastructure (equipment and offices)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There is no equipment and furniture, for example, computers and desks, for Research Services staff • Currently there is no office space for the researchers. Possible places where they could be housed include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - County Hall Archives - Harambee Plaza - One of the Committee rooms in Continental House
Internet connectivity and LAN	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The research department's budget does not have allocations to purchase computers and printers for researchers. For the department to be effective there is need for KNA to identify donors who will be willing to provide both the hardware and software required.

Access to external experts	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The committees have informal access to external experts who assist with Public policy reviews upon request. Each Committee has a budget. Committees decide whether to get experts or not. • Some policy institutes work informally with the Finance Committee. • There is no mention of guidelines and framework, which can be used by committees to access and pay external expertise. Almost all the respondents agreed that there is need to access external expertise. This is because technical analysis forms the bulk of the work performed by the Legislature.
Information Links and networks	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Currently the library has a limited collection of documents, which can be used for research purposes. • The Library has a working relationship with the Kenya National Archives and Documentation Centre, the University of Nairobi's Library, the British Council Library and the American Cultural Centre. There is a heavy dependence on information from Government departments because the National Assembly was part of the Public Service Commission until the establishment of the PSC.

2.3.2 Analysis

The financial resources available only cater for the salaries of the research staff. There are no funds to purchase IT hardware and software, photocopying equipment and training programmes. There are no clear strategies in terms of development of parliamentary research skills for both members and staff. There is need for targeting intervention in this area. Although committees have budgets that enable them to access external expertise there is need for a framework and guidelines to access experts on specific policy issues that come before committees.

This is because MPs require the widest range of information to enable them to make intelligible contributions in the House and to keep more effective vigil or scrutiny over the activities of the Executive Branch of governance. Furthermore, the oversight role of Parliament is achieved when critical issues are analysed and critical questions asked.

There is need to spell out the role of IT in the provision of research services. In the Polish Parliament legislation is stored in huge databases and the possible alterations to them can occur during parliamentary discussions. This experiment is being currently tried in Egypt through the legislative database called "LIS".

In the American Congress, small models were developed for the simulation of the tax system in order to support the work of the economic analyst studying the development of tax tools and the tax system and the effect of changing them in the general budget. The American Congress research department uses these programs in the various sectors such as health insurance, salaries, grants and social assistance and unemployment benefits, to help the MP in the prior knowledge of the likely effects of changes in these general policies on the sectors most affected by them. This process was named the: "What If Question."

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

Regarding parliamentary research and information services, the use of modern techniques has become inevitable, not only from an objective and professional point of view; but also for economic reasons. These techniques are the ones that help in facing the dilemma experienced by research services namely the need to improve effectiveness.

The use of these modern techniques saves on time cost. It helps to possible and in the best quality since it also helps improving the methods of research and analysis and the collection of information (local and foreign) and leads to the improvement in the skills of researchers.

Modern parliaments and many international institutions have given due importance to this matter. They prepared special Websites for themselves on the Internet network and linked these locations to other sources of information and databases. They enabled MPs to use LAP TOP portable computers, as in the American Congress and the Canadian, Japanese, Mozambican and Indian Parliaments.

2.3.3 Best Practice

Domain	Best Practice
Research Budget	Different Legislatures have different budgets for research services: UK: +-8 Million pounds Australia: AU 18 Million Canada: +-C$2Million USA: +- $55.7 Million
Space considerations	In most Legislatures, Research and Library services are located close to each other to enable easy access.
IT acquisition and requisite training	In most Legislatures, IT is being used to enhance the information delivery systems. Local Area networks have been created to interlink legislative processes. Almost all CPA parliaments have internet and intranet connectivity (see IPU and CPA publications).
Access to external Expertise	Committee work is very technical. Government departments have expertise on many policy issues. Parliaments do not have this expertise. In Zimbabwe external experts are hired to give expert advice on specific issues. There is a framework to recruit and remunerate the experts. There is a budget allocated to the hiring of external experts. Parliament also has a database of these external experts. Each committee has a budget to access external expertise. The same applies for South Africa. Zimbabwe – access to external expertise for committees. Malawi – access to external expertise South Africa – access to external expertise

Research Budget	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> It is recommended that Annual Budget for the department reviewed annually to enable the growth of the service.
Space considerations	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> It is recommended that researchers have quick access to the Library, and that when the House is sitting, an office be made available to facilitate receipt and processing of information requests.
IT acquisition and requisite training	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> It is recommended that the IT development programme as developed by UNDESA be implemented.
Access to external Expertise	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> It is recommended that clear guidelines be developed to access external experts to assist the work of committees. It is understood that the KNA is already studying a concept paper on this issue. A database of the experts needs to be developed. It is also recommended that specific policy institutes, universities etc be approached to create a wide information base for the committees.

2.4 Skills and Capacities of Research Staff

2.4.1 Current Status

Domain	Current Status
Skills and capacities required	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The Strategic Plan does not state the different qualities and skills required for the research department. The Consultants' report (Appendix C) details the qualities and skills and job descriptions of the research staff.
Multidisciplinary nature of team	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> From the onset, as indicated in both the Strategic Plan and consultants' report, the research team will be multidisciplinary.
Interdepartmental relations with library	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Both the Strategic Plan and Consultants' Report (Three Nation Report) envisage an information system that has functional skills but that share the same vision and aims to ensure a coherent and holistic approach to the delivery of information to MPs. The research department will have close relations with the committees and the Library.
Parliamentary research ethics	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> There is need to spell out Parliamentary research ethics.

2.4.2 Analysis

Given the fact that this is the first time a research department is being established for NAK, it is important to hire persons with a broad professional base and the intellectual depth and experience that will make them win the confidence of all members and staff. The communication and interpersonal skills of the Head of Department (HOD) will be very important at this stage.

Although the Strategic Plan and Consultants' report are silent on the issue of Parliamentary research ethics, it is important to highlight them at the onset so that research staff are aware of them, and MPS are comfortable to use the services.

There is no training for Parliamentary officers. Knowledge will be acquired on the job. What is important is to develop a culture of continuous learning within the new staff.

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

The development of performance indicators in this area is therefore crucial to assess progress. A lot of the training will therefore be undertaken in –house.

The training programme should also cover communication, interpersonal skills, and capacity to write.

Since all the researchers are being employed at the same time it is important to consider their career path and methods of rewarding performance. Initial training will be required in the following areas:

- Role and Functions of Parliament;
- Principle of Separation of Powers;
- Culture and values which underpin the work of Parliament and Research;
- Writing Skills
- Communication
- Management

There is no doubt that the researchers will benefit from observing a parallel operation in other Parliaments with research departments. It is therefore important to organize attachment programmes for all staff on an equitable basis. It is suggested that initially the attachments be to developing Legislatures and then established ones for both MPs and staff.

2.4.3 Best Practice

Domain	Best Practice
Recruitment and Focus	In Zimbabwe , the recruitment focuses on ability to cover a wide array of subject areas. Emphasis is however placed on economics, statistics, and politics. In Australia the research service began with one or two statisticians, one or two lawyers and one or two economists. As resources have become available, Australia now has specialists on social policy issues, science, technology, environment, foreign affairs, defence and trade.
Induction Programme	In most Parliaments, there is an intensive induction programme for new staff members. Australia – have an induction programme at the institutional and departmental level Zimbabwe – has an induction programme at institutional and departmental level, which includes a two-week intensive performance management programme.
Performance Management	In most CPA parliaments, there are performance management procedures, e. g Zimbabwe, UK, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, and South Africa.

The distribution of research requests of MPs to research staff be made on the basis of familiarity with the issue, expertise and preference of the MP.

Domain	Recommendations
Recruitment and Focus	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> It is recommended that the recruitment process ensures that candidates have capacity to work flexibly in a Parliamentary environment. Given the importance of research products in the legislative process, the recruitment process should also take into consideration the potential for sound judgement.
Induction Programme	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Since the department will be providing research services to both government and opposition Members, there is need to ensure that research ethics are observed at all times. There is need to hold induction programs to ensure that researchers are well acquainted with knowledge of parliamentary research ethics. It is recommended that a policy document be prepared, highlighting the research ethics.
Performance Management	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> It is recommended that the KNA develop performance management procedures to assess performance of the project and of staff. The current performance management procedures are based on the Public Service Commission.
Parliamentary research ethics	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Especially as the confidence of Members in the service is being developed, and also due to the non-partisanship of the service, focus on issues of confidentiality is essential.
Confidentiality	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> It is recommended that all services of the department be confidential, more so that committee reports should not leak before being tabled in the House.

PART THREE: DETAILED FINDINGS OF NEEDS ASSESSMENT FOR LIBRARY SERVICES

3.1 Scope of Library Services

3.1.1 Current Status

Domain	Current Status/Needs
Understanding of what library services entail.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The members of parliament and staff interviewed were clear of the need of a modern library with relevant and up to date information. • MPs noted the need for better and efficient library services.
Acquisition	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The library collects parliamentary papers, reports, official documents to help the members participate effectively in the debate of many issues that come before the house. With exception of materials generated by parliament: • Most of the materials in the library are old and the information they contain is out retrospective. • The library does not have an acquisition policy .
Reference	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The library stocks numerous reference tools which are aimed at answering questions in the shortest possible time. These include dictionaries, encyclopaedias, hard Books, directories, and procedural manuals. • The library has not been able to provide good services because of lack of enough staff and resources
Press Cuttings	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The library used to provide this service a few years ago. The service is no longer provided because of lack of staff. However, the library subscribes to all the local newspapers and a few foreign newspapers.
Lending	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • This service is strictly for sitting members of parliament and senior parliamentary staff. • MPs are allowed to borrow up to four books for a period of four weeks while senior members of staff are entitled to two books for the same period. • Most of the MPs of parliament interviewed noted that they have never borrowed any material from the Library because the literature is not current.
Current Awareness	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Library does not provide this service. There are no accession lists to show what is current. This is a technical service and it requires a well trained personnel with wide exposure to information sources

Inter- Library Loan:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • When a book is not available in the collection, the library makes efforts to acquire it from other libraries. Since no library is self sufficient, the library cooperates with a limited number of libraries situated within Nairobi such As The British Council, The Kenya National Archives – Documentation Centre The United States Information Service (LISTS) The University of Nairobi Library. The Attorney General Chambers Library and the High Court of Kenya Library. • All the interviewees agreed that inter- library loan services should be improved to accommodate other relevant institutions.

Website	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The library does not have a website.
Networking	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There is need for effective information exchange programmes and co-operation among Parliamentary Librarians in view of the increasing close relations and working togetherness of Parliamentarians in the region and indeed the world over. The library is networking with other parliamentary library to facilitate information flow and exchange. • The Kenya National Assembly Library is a member of Kenya National Library, Standing Conference for Eastern, Central and Southern Africa Libraries (SCESAL), International Library Associations and Institutions (IFLA) and Association of Parliamentary Libraries of Eastern and Southern Africa (APLESA). • The Library hosted the 9th Annual Conference of APLESA in Mombasa from 12-16th May 2003. One of the Librarians of KNA is in the Executive Board of APLESA. • APLESA Members include Parliaments of Angola, Botswana, Kenya, Lesotho, Malawi, Namibia, South Africa, Tanzania, Uganda, Zambia and Zimbabwe.
User Education	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • When a new parliament opens, the library prepares a circular, which is signed by the Speaker to inform Members about the existence of the Library and services offered. • Most of the Members agreed that once the Library services are improved, it is important to publicise the Library. • Because the space available in the Library is not sufficient, it is difficult to display new acquisitions.
Beneficiaries of Library Services	All the interviewees agreed that main users of the Library services are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ The PSC ▪ The Speaker ▪ Committees ▪ Members of Parliament ▪ Clerk of Parliament ▪ Parliamentary staff.

Library Needs of Users	Members of Parliament <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The current parliament has very highly qualified and experienced professionals who have greater need for relevant and updated information. • Most of the Members interviewed agreed that they do not use the Library because of lack of current and relevant materials. • Members also noted that the Library is congested and does not have enough sitting capacity. • The few Members who visit the library go there to read newspapers. • All Members interviewed agreed that there is need to have more computers in the Library to provide Internet services. They said they have to go to surrounding hotels and to Access Internet. • Members would like to access most of the Parliamentary Papers on Line. • There is need to have information on past and current Members stored properly for quick retrieval. • There is no non-book information on Members. • Members go to workshops, seminars, conferences and overseas trips. Parliamentary Staff <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Most of the parliamentary staff do not use the library because the collection is not current. • The organisation of materials and furniture is not attractive to them

There is a clear need for a modern library with relevant and up to date information, that will entail better and efficient library services. In order for the Members to participate effectively in the debate, the library will need to collect up to date parliamentary papers, reports and official documents. Since the library stocks numerous reference tools which are aimed at answering questions in the shortest time possible, a clear acquisitions policy needs to be in place in order to acquire relevant and up to date resources. There is also a need for proper record keeping in reports produced by various committees.

Once an attractive scheme of service for Library Assistants and Librarians is developed and implemented, more staff should be recruited and such other services like press cuttings be restored. The library will also provide current awareness services through production of accession lists as well as provide selective dissemination of information by creating information profiles. With an acquisitions policy in place, relevant and up to date materials will thus be available for borrowing except for reference materials.

A library user education programme needs to be intensified by not only having a circular informing members about the existence of the library, but one for educating the users on types of materials available, their location, how they can recommend acquisition of new materials, how to conduct searches, what services the library offers, what materials are available for borrowing and those for reference purposes only and for what period etc. As part of user education the library will be required to prepare library brochures publicising library services and functions.

Inter-Library Loan:	Zambia – For non-available collections the library makes efforts to acquire the same from other libraries through inter-library loan. Zimbabwe – where the library does not stock items requested by members, the department may borrow or source the required information on behalf of members from other libraries
User Education	Zambia - Members of Parliament are encouraged to use the library through library tours. Current Awareness	South Africa – The sub-unit provides users with current international information from international journals. This will normally capture and make current international news that is of relevance to members and researchers available. Users are able to view copies of the videos on parliamentary debates and special occasions. Current news from radio stations is made available on tapes. Zimbabwe – when Parliament is in session, the library produces a weekly "current awareness" list of articles from international papers mainly dealing with or affecting Zimbabwe. A quarterly list of recent additions to the stock is also produced and distributed.
Newspaper Cuttings	Zimbabwe – The library keeps newspaper cuttings on topical issues, which Parliamentarians may wish to refer to during the course of their duties

3.2.2 Analysis

There is an urgent need to process documents and publications which have not been processed at all, using internationally accepted standards. Library materials need to be accessioned and labelled accordingly with ownership mark (Name of institution, accession number and date received).

A computerised cataloguing systems needs to be put in place alongside the current catalogue that should be updated and have all holdings reflected in it. Through the available AACR II in the library, international standards ought to be followed. Since some of the books have been classified using DDC, those materials that have not been classified ought to be classified using the same scheme alongside the Sears list of subject headings. With the two practices properly put in place, retrieval of information resources will be easy and a bibliography can be created which will contain a complete list of the library's collection.

Through the catalogue and classified materials, indexing of materials will almost become automatic towards subject access.

Continuous weeding will rid off outdated materials as well as create space in the library. Weeded materials will be transferred to the archives which is in the basement of the County Hall.

Due to the great demand by MPs and staff new heavy duty photocopiers and other reprographic equipment need to be acquired. Copyright law should however not be infringed.

3.3.2 Analysis

The library establishment does not seem to be adequate and the PSC Strategic Plan (2002- 2012) should be implemented which among other things recommends for additional staff upon opening of the new library in Continental house.

Majority of the current staff do not have skills in managing non-book materials, grey literature and experience in the use of information technologies in the library. Training is therefore recommended Proper stationery and other working tools should also be acquired alongside an increased staff establishment.

In the past financial years there has been provision made in the budget for library acquisitions while in the current financial year provision has also been made for the acquisition of a microfilming machine for the library.

It is hoped that that the Parliamentary Library will develop into a modern parliamentary resource centre recognising the ever-growing need for legislators to have access to up-to-date and accurate information about development worldwide.

The current library structure is not adequate and there is need for an expanded structure by way of retraining and recruiting more and qualified personnel with clear reporting lines The library also needs to promote understanding and co-operation between legislatures and their information services

It will be appropriate for the Library to operate independently but under one directorate with the research services.

PART FOUR: DETAILED FINDINGS OF NEEDS ASSESSMENT FOR ARCHITECTURAL DESIGN BRIEF

4.1 Methodology

The findings of the needs assessment in this part are based on research carried out by partner consultants and recommendations by partner consultants conversant with library services, parliamentary procedures and Legal & Research Centres in other countries in the Common wealth.

4.1.1 Research Meetings with Partner Consultants

Several discussions were held with partner consultants specializing in library services and parliamentary legal and parliamentary research services. The outcome of these discussions resulted in the provision of Ideal Space requirements based on Best Practice Principles.

4.1.2 Research Meetings with End-users: Members of Parliament staff of the Parliamentary Service.

Several discussions were held with end-users to determine their requirements. These were then analysed and incorporated together with partner consultant's recommendations of ideal best practice requirements. The result of this was the formation of the Ideal Design Brief which was then used as a basis for designing the available spaces.

4.1.3 Site Surveys

The architects carried out several site surveys on various locations listed below. Drawings of existing buildings were not provided. Structural & Services Surveys were not carried out. The architects' main concern was to carry out a measured survey of the existing spaces.

4.2 Current Status

4.2.1 Main Parliamentary Library

A measured survey of the main parliamentary library was carried out. The purpose of the survey was to measure the sizes of the existing spaces and record the quality and type of finishes. Drawings of the parliamentary library as it exists are provided in the appendix. Existing finishes of the library are as follows:

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

Element	Finish	Quality
Ceiling	Solid Slab Soffit	Fair
Walls	Timber Panelling	Fair
Walls	Plaster & Painted	Fair
Floor	Wood block	Fair
Fixed Shelving	Timber Construction	Fair

4.2.2 County Hall Archives

A measured survey of the semi-basement Floor archives at County Hall was carried out. It was a sunny & dry afternoon with adequate external natural light which was visible inside. There was a smell of must/damp which signified water ingress. The water ingress was however not visible but evidence of rising damp in the form of peeling paint and dried out flooring was visible.

On inquiries, we were informed that the room had experienced water ingress during the rains occasioned by a broken storm water pipe which has since been repaired. We were therefore able to draw the conclusion that ground level waterproofing had failed.

Element	Finish	Quality
Ceiling	Solid Slab Soffit	Fair
Walls	Plaster & Painted	Poor
Floor	Wood Block	Poor
Shelving	Metal Shelving	Fair

4.2.3 Continental House, 1st Floor

A measured survey of this existing space was carried out. It was recently refurbished and new furniture and fittings had been purchased and were in storage in the space. At a meeting with the Parliamentary Steering Committee on 3rd October 2003, it was learned that as much of the furniture as possible may be used for the library.

Element	Finish	Quality
Ceiling	Suspended	Good
Walls	Plaster & Painted	Good
Floors	Carpet	Good
Office Partition	Timber & Glazing	Good

4.2.4 Harambee Plaza

Access was granted to survey the 8th floor of Harambee Plaza, which had been leased by parliament for offices. Although our survey is based on this floor, it should be taken to be representative of the floor space to be procured by parliament, for use by the Legal & Research Centre.

Element	Finish	Quality
Ceiling	Structural Soffit	Fair
Walls	Plaster & Painted	Fair
Floor	Carpet	Poor
Toilets	Ceramic Tiles	Poor

4.3 Design Proposals

4.3.1 Main Parliamentary Library, Parliament Buildings

We propose to retain the existing character of the library due to its age and architectural importance as a building worthy of listing. In order to accommodate the modernising requirements of the library we have proposed minor alterations to the existing space coupled with general refurbishment of existing fixtures and fittings. The purpose of this activity is to create additional space and enable the parliamentarians make efficient use of the facility.

The alterations and refurbishment will result in the following key spaces:

- 1no. Head Librarian's office
- 1no. Shared Office for two librarians
- Internet area with 4no Internet ready terminals
- Newspaper & periodicals reading area
- Enclosed quiet reading room
- Mezzanine space with shelves for special reference material/books
- Space for photocopying and TV
- 5no. workstations for library staff

It is expected that the main parliamentary library will provide technical parliamentary information; Hansard, Bills, Laws, Session Papers, etc.

An Internet area with 4no. Internet ready terminals will be provided for use. Trunking will also be provided around the library to cater for additional IT connections.

4.3.2 Loans, Reference, IT and Audio Visual Library, 1st Floor Continental House

In order to provide modern facilities that will empower Members of Parliament to adequately carry out their duties, we propose a Loans, Reference, IT and Audio Visual Library in Continental House. It is expected that material available here will complement Member's offices to enable them to adequately represent their constituents.

The facilities proposed here are as follows:

- 2no. Offices for Librarians
- 1no. Audio Visual Room with adequate audio visual materials
- 13no. Internet ready terminals
- Reading area
- Shelving for loans and reference books
- Reception
- 5no. workstations for library staff

4.3.3 Legal and Research Services

- Parliamentary Service Commission wishes to establish a Legal and Research Centre so as to empower Members to have access to research material and legal advisory services.
- In proposing suitable space for this centre, we have noted the fact that there is a high requirement for privacy, both for officers carrying out their research and parliamentarians briefing or receiving the material.
- The legal and research service will be non-partisan; it would therefore be improper for Members of Parliament from different sides of the House to have information that their opponents had requested. For this reason, we have endeavoured to find existing spaces that would house the centre comfortably and provide the desired number of spaces.

The following options were considered:

Option 1: Archive Room, County Hall

This is an existing part-basement space in County Hall.

- During our site survey, we noticed evidence of rising damp in the floors and walls. On further inquiry, it was confirmed that the basement had previously flooded. The water proofing system / barrier / membrane appears to have failed.

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

- We were additionally informed that during the hot season, the room gets unbearably hot and would therefore not be suitable for office use unless ventilation and cooling measures were taken.
- It will not be possible to house a Legal and Research Centre which falls far short of the ideal space requirements given to us by our partner consultants.

We therefore, do not recommend using this room to house the Research and Legal Centre.

We have therefore proposed an improved floor layout to store archived materials in this existing part-basement space in County Hall.

Option 2: Committee Room, Continental House

This would be any committee room at Continental House. We have based our findings on the existing committee room we have access to on 4th Floor Continental House.

- Continental House was recently refurbished, meaning that given the shortage of space and lack of offices for staff, it would be safe to assume that the committee rooms are also inadequate.
- Given the number of private research offices required, administration offices, waiting area, etc., we feel that the committee rooms would be inadequate. Unless, three or so adjoining committee rooms were made available.

We would therefore not recommend using a committee room to house the Legal and Research Centre.

Option 3: One floor be made available at Harambee Plaza

During our consultations with stakeholders, we were made to believe that it would be possible to procure a complete floor at Harambee Plaza. If this is the case, we believe that the floor would provide adequate space to house the Legal and Research Centre. We are therefore recommending that the KNA procures one floor at Harambee Plaza, which would then be designed to provide the facilities as follows.

Schedule of spaces:

Total Floor area required 226.6m²

Director of Research	3.2 x 6.2m = 19.84m ²
Chief Research Officer	3.4 x 5.0m = 17.0m ²
Office Administrator	3.1 x 3.5m = 10.85m ²
Political & Social Affairs	3.1 x 3.5m = 10.85m ²
Law & Government	3.1 x 3.5m = 10.85m ²
Economics & Finance	3.1 x 3.5m = 10.85m ²

Needs Assessment Report For Legal, Research And Library Services – Kenya National Assembly

Education & Technology	$3.1 \times 3.5\text{m} = 10.85\text{m}^2$
Transport & Communication	$3.1 \times 3.5\text{m} = 10.85\text{m}^2$
Policy Analysis	$3.1 \times 3.5\text{m} = 10.85\text{m}^2$
Legal Services Officer	$2(3.5 \times 4.0\text{m}) = 28.0\text{m}^2$
Leg. Serv. Administrator	$3.1 \times 3.5\text{m} = 10.85\text{m}^2$
Waiting area	approx. 75m^2

During our meetings with the Parliamentary Steering Committee, we were also assured that the KNA would arrange with owners of the building to provide adequate security for Members of Parliament using this facility. In order to ensure that the KNA is well served with Legal and Research Services based on Ideal Best Practice in the commonwealth and other regions, we recommend that the services be housed in suitable and adequate space, in this case, Harambee Plaza.
